The Design, Experience and Practice of Networked Learning (Research in Networked Learning)

Vivien Hodgson, Maarten de Laat, David McConnell, Thomas Ryberg

The Design, Experience and Practice of Networked Learning Edited by: Vivien Hodgson, Maarten de Laat, David McConnell and Thomas Ryberg This book brings together a wealth of new research that opens up the meaning of connectivity as embodied and promised in the term 'networked learning'. Chapters explore how contexts, groups and environments can be connected rather than just learners; how messy, unexpected and emergent connections can be made rather than structured and predefined ones; and how technology connects us to learning and each other, but also shapes our identity. These exciting new perspectives ask us to look again at what we are connecting and to revel in new and emergent possibilities arising from the interplay of social actors, contexts, technologies, and learning. Caroline Haythornthwaite, University of British Columbia Despite creating fundamentally new educational economics and greatly increasing access - teaching and learning in networks is a tricky business. These chapters illuminate the complex interactions amongst tools, pedagogy, educational institutions and personal net presences – helping us design and redesign our own networks. In the process, they take (or extract) network theory from the practice of real teaching and learning contexts, making this collection an important contribution to Networked Learning. Terry Anderson, Athabasca University What kinds of learning can social networking platforms really enable? Digging well beneath the hype, this book provides a timely, incisive analysis of why and how learning emerges (or fails to) in networked spaces. The editors do a fine job in guiding the reader through the rich array of theories and methods for tackling this question, and the diverse contexts in which networked learning is now being studied. This is a book for reflective practitioners as well as academics: the book's close attention to the political, pedagogical and organisational complexity of effective practice, and the lived experience of educators and learners, helps explain why networked learning has such disruptive potential — but equally, why it draws resistance from the establishment. Simon Buckingham Shum, The Open University The networked learning conference, a biannual institution since 1998, celebrates its 14th year in this volume. Here a range of studies, reflecting networked learning experiments across Europe and other global contexts, show important shifts away from a conservative tradition of e-learning<sup>1</sup> research and unpeel dilemmas of promoting learning as an elusive practice in virtual environments. The authors point towards important futures in online learning research, where notions of knowledge, connectivity and ecommunity<sup>1</sup> become increasingly elastic, and engagements slide across material and virtual domains in new practices whose emergence is increasingly difficult to apprehend. Tara Fenwick – University of Stirling. The chapters in this volume explore new and innovative ways of thinking about the nature of networked learning and its pedagogical values and beliefs. They pose a challenge to us to reflect on what we thought networked learning was 15 year ago, where it is today and where it is likely to be headed. Each chapter brings a particular perspective to the themes of design, experience and practice of networked learning, the chosen focus of the book. The chapters in the book embrace a wide field of educational areas including those of higher education, informal learning, work-based learning, continuing professional development, academic staff development, and management learning. The Design, Experience and Practice of Networked Learning will prove indispensable reading for researchers, teachers, consultants, and instructional

From reader reviews:

Darlene Trevino:

What do you about book? It is not important with you? Or just adding material when you really need something to explain what yours problem? How about your time? Or are you busy individual? If you don't have spare time to try and do others business, it is give you a sense of feeling bored faster. And you have spare time? What did you do? All people has many questions above. They must answer that question due to the fact just their can do in which. It said that about guide. Book is familiar on every person. Yes, it is proper. Because start from on guardería until university need this The Design, Experience and Practice of Networked Learning (Research in Networked Learning) to read.

Albert Aucoin:

The ability that you get from The Design, Experience and Practice of Networked Learning (Research in Networked Learning) will be the more deep you searching the information that hide within the words the more you get considering reading it. It does not mean that this book is hard to comprehend but The Design, Experience and Practice of Networked Learning (Research in Networked Learning) giving you joy feeling of reading. The article author conveys their point in a number of way that can be understood by simply anyone who read this because the author of this reserve is well-known enough. This kind of book also makes your current vocabulary increase well. Therefore it is easy to understand then can go along with you, both in printed or e-book style are available. We propose you for having this kind of The Design, Experience and Practice of Networked Learning (Research in Networked Learning) instantly.

Margaret Barone:

In this age globalization it is important to someone to receive information. The information will make professionals understand the condition of the world. The fitness of the world makes the information much easier to share. You can find a lot of recommendations to get information example: internet, paper, book, and soon. You can see that now, a lot of publisher that print many kinds of book. Typically the book that recommended to your account is The Design, Experience and Practice of Networked Learning (Research in Networked Learning) this publication consist a lot of the information in the condition of this world now. This particular book was represented so why is the world has grown up. The vocabulary styles that writer require to explain it is easy to understand. The particular writer made some analysis when he makes this book. That is why this book suited all of you.

Terry Pullen:

This The Design, Experience and Practice of Networked Learning (Research in Networked Learning) is completely new way for you who has attention to look for some information given it relief your hunger info. Getting deeper you in it getting knowledge more you know or you who still having little bit of digest in reading this The Design, Experience and Practice of Networked Learning (Research in Networked Learning) can be the light food for you because the information inside that book is easy to get by means of anyone. These books build itself in the form which is reachable by anyone, yeah I mean in the e-book contact form. People who think that in e-book form make them feel sleepy even dizzy this book is the answer. So you cannot find any in reading a reserve especially this one. You can find what you are looking for. It should be here for you. So , don't miss it! Just read this e-book kind for your better life as well as knowledge.
