Devices for Monitoring Nonphysical Energies (Psychic Exploration) William A. Tiller

Significant advances in the psychoenergetics field will be delayed until devices and techniques are developed for monitoring nonphysical energies. One general category of useful devices is that of a conventional electromagnetic nature that responds to such energies via interaction with an intermediary living transducer—human, animal, or plant. This paper, chapter 21 of Psychic Exploration, is largely devoted to a discussion of two such devices: a high-voltage (Kirlian) photography device and an acupuncture-point monitoring device. The full volume of Psychic Exploration can be purchased as an ebook or paperback version from all major online retailers and at cosimobooks.com. WILLIAM A. TILLER, Ph.D., is professor emeritus of materials science and engineering at Stanford University. He has been a consultant to government and industry in the fields of metallurgy, chemistry, and solid-state physics. He has written hundreds of articles and papers for various magazines and scientific papers, and is also the author of several books, including Science and Human Transformation.
